

TONYA HOFMANN

SPEAKER ● WORKSHOP PRESENTER ● AUTHOR ● CONSULTANT

Look in the dictionary under "well-connected marketers" and you will discover Tonya Hofmann's photo. Being well-connected is a side benefit of her years of experience in retail sales, training, networking organization management, and private/public sector consulting. Tonya's effervescence comes from a genuine love of people and intense drive to help them achieve their potential. When you meet her for the first time you will not hear "all about her" but she will ask, "How can I help YOU!" This is typical of how she counsels her clients to re-energize their business life. It is all about helping others.

Tonya believes in showing her audiences throughout the world how to develop such areas as unique brands, multiple income streams throughout their business, sales and leveraged connections. She gives her audience new ideas and help them transform their bottom line to grow and explode their business immediately following the presentation! "I don't just talk it, I help you walk it!" is not just a slogan but a code of conduct and ethics. Each presentation is designed to give her audience the maximum exposure to the ideas and formulas that anyone can turn around and implement.

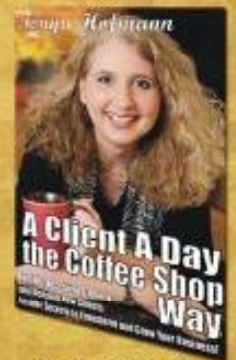

Learn how to find, receive, close & keep new clients! Tonya gives you all of her secrets on how to transform and grow your business in the "REAL" World!

"I have known Tonya for several years and have heard her speak many times. Each time I do, I learn new concepts and come away feeling as though I have just inhaled a field of sunflowers. Her presentations are vibrant, fresh, and loaded with terrific information. As an observer, I watch the audiences and they are always riveted. She involves them and manages to weave a new spell on them every time. I intend to hear her speak at every opportunity." Gene Vasconi: Owner, Communication Arts and author of "Say What: Do You really Know What you Are Communicating?"
